

Ignac And Bozske Schultz

This is Uncle Naci [Ignac] and Auntie Bozske, from America. I don't know Bozske's family name. The picture must have been in the package they sent after the war, because we had no contact with them other than this. Uncle Naci looks similar to Dad. Uncle Naci was Dad's younger brother, who emigrated to America. He was a tailor too. When we lived in Balassagyarmat, they had a tailor's workshop together, which was a shop as well. He was married, and had a son. He had a Christian wife, Auntie Bozske. I heard something about him having to escape after the Commune, and this is why he left for America. I remember, it must have been just before my mom died, when they came there to say good-bye. It must have been around the End of 1919. We never wrote letters, I don't know why. I know, when we came back from the deportation, Etel found out their address in America from someone in the family, and wrote to Ignac, and he sent a single package. They sent material for clothes, very nice material, a couple of metres, so, it was enough for the children, for my sister, and for me, for coats and dresses, and everything. But no letter was attached. And my sister wrote and thanked them for it, but there was no further reply. We heard from someone, that his son became a doctor, and they were very well off.
